

Haarlem Vinyl Foundation presents:

Haarlem Vinyl Festival

Surrounded by vinyl culture...

The Haarlem Vinyl Festival is the annual three-day celebration of vinyl culture held in Haarlem, the Netherlands.

It's our mission to make vinyl culture accessible to all generations, with events spanning every genre of music and showcasing both classic and contemporary vinyl recordings.

We aim to transform Haarlem into the vinyl capital of the world, at least for one weekend a year.

Haarlem Vinyl Festival is organised by the Haarlem Vinyl Foundation, a not-for-profit organisation.

Our event has grown into a beloved destination for music lovers and vinyl collectors from around the world.

Haarlem Vinyl Festival combines live performances, DJ sets, special releases, and cultural collaborations across city venues including Patronaat, PHIL, St. Bavo Church and many others.

More than 'just' a Record Fair or festival, the Haarlem Vinyl Festival is:

- The place that celebrates vinyl culture and recorded music, with room for all (sub)genres and niches.
- An opportunity to listen together to classic and new records on a crisp sound system.
 - The latest on equipment and gear, for starters and music professionals.
 - A place to discover new music, both live and recorded.
 - The chance to add that missing record to your collection.
- A community-driven program with additions from all different locations and their program teams.
